Pro-Life

The Government says it plans to legislate early in 2013 and abortion may then be carried out in Ireland for the first time. This is the road upon which we in Ireland will travel in 2013 if we legalise abortion. It is interesting to note the recent comments of Lord David Steele whose 1967 Act permitted abortion in England up to 28 weeks gestation. He said quite clearly that he believes that it would be a huge mistake for any country to legislate for abortion on the grounds of suicide alone. These views are in total conformity with the views of many of our top psychiatrists. We appeal to politicians to think deeply about the implications of their actions.
